ORGANIC

BIODYNAMIC

ARGENTINA

ALPAMANTA, MENDOZA

The 35 hectares vineyard is located at the Calle Cobos in Ugarteche, the southern part of Luján de Cuyo, 38 kms south of Mendoza city. The 3 year old vineyard are trained in V.S.P (Vertical Shooting Position) and give a 5 - tone yield per hectare. The young vines consist of 50 % Malbec, Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, Merlot, Cabernet Franc and Petit Verdot and 15% of whites such as Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc.

Alluvional soils of lime texture, mineral and poor in organic matter with excellent drainage in an area of low annual rainfall, make the ideal conditions for grape growing. Pesticides are not used at all through the cycle. Maceration started at cold temperature previous to fermentation. Once alcoholic fermentation (using exclusively native yeasts) was completed at 26°C, a post-fermenting maceration took place over the next 7 days, making a total of 28 tank days.

ANDELUNA CELLARS, MENDOZA UCO VALLEY

Andeluna Cellars is a winery and vineyard rich with history and romance – just like the country it calls home. This beautiful place is the inspiration for the name Andeluna, which was chosen to symbolize the romance and heritage of the Argentine moon illuminating the magnificent Andes Mountains that frame the Uco Valley near the town of Tupungato. The combination of great vineyards growing classic varietals with world-class winemaking creates flavors and wines that cannot be found anywhere else. Andeluna is dedicated to creating world-class wines, and the world is taking notice. They were recently named with one of the “Top 100 Wines of the World” by Wine Enthusiast, 2006.

ANTUCURA, MENDOZA VISTA FLORES

Antucurá means “Sun Stone” and Calvucura means “Blue Stone” in old Mapudungun language. Mapudungun (mapu means 'earth' and dungun means 'to speak') was the language used by the Pehuenches, the first inhabitants of the area where the Antucurá winery stands today in the Uco Valley in Argentina. The owners chose that name for their winery and vineyards because the grapes grow and develop naturally between the stones and rocks. The winery sits below the Andes Mountains using ancient viniculture traditions and new vinification technologies, to produce premium wines.

ARGENTINA CUVELIER LOS ANDES, TUNUYAN - MENDOZA

The vineyard was planted in 1999 with a density of 5500 plants per hectare. This is a similar density to those favored in Bordeaux but is rare in Argentina. Today the vineyard stretches over 55 hectares (136 acres) with 10 hectares still to plant. The main grape is Malbec. They have also planted Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah and Petit Verdot. This enables them to create their own blended wines and also contribute to those of Clos de los Siete. Basking in the warm, dry climate of Mendoza, cooled by the refreshing night air of the Andes, their vines are ideally situated to express the character of their various grape varieties in this stony, alluvial gravel soil.

CANADA CLOS DU SOLEIL, OKANAGAN VALLEY

“We are developing wines that have that old world elegance, but with a bit of a new world edge and oomph” say managing directors Les and Spencer, “after all, we are Canadian and our vineyard is in BC”. In 2009 Ann Sperling, renowned Canadian winemaker and a former high school classmate of Spencer, joined as viticulturist and winemaker, and Spencer Kelly joined as associate winemaker and vineyard manager. The name Clos du Soleil refers to rocks, sun, and soil, from the mountain that forms a tall natural stone wall at the back of the vineyard, the cobbled terroir, and the long days of sun which pour in on the Similkameen Bench, one of BC’s most unique and promising microclimates.

DOMAINE HUBERT DE MONTILLE, BURGUNDY

Domaine Hubert de Montille is a first class Côte de Beaune domaine and one which is producing some of the purest expressions of Pinot Noir to be found in Burgundy today. The winemaking is traditional - partial destemming followed by a relatively long maceration period. Crucially, chaptalisation is kept to a bare minimum. The wines are aged in oak barriques (20-30% new) and are bottled unfiltered. These are wonderfully elegant, harmonious wines that require at least five years bottle ageing to show at their very best

Etienne de Montille and his sister Alix have created a small négociant operation under the play-on-words name Maison Deux Montille Soeur et Frère. It specializes in whites and is committed, whenever possible, to buying only grapes and not must and in 2005, Etienne said that 90% of the production was indeed bought in as grapes. New oak was limited to 15% at the villages level and 20% for the rest and as usual, they were not chaptalized.

MAISON LEROY, BURGUNDY

This is the greatest estate in Burgundy...How do you determine great? Is it size? Is it quality? Is it price? Is it "reputation" (what ever that is)? Is it the amount of media coverage? However you do compute it, the greatest domaines of Burgundy today must be those under the control of Lalou Bize : The Domaine Leroy and her own Domaine d'Auvenay. The estates of Jadot, Faiveley and Bouchard Père & Fils are far larger, that of Romanée-Conti the most splendid in terms of percentage of grand terroir, but for nobility of it's wines, pride of place must go to Leroy and to the Domaine d'Auvenay. The sheer concentration, depth and intensity Lalou Bize manages to squeeze into her bottles is breathtaking". Clive COATES M.W.

JEAN-PAUL & BENOIT DROIN, CHABLIS - BURGUNDY

The Droin family is amongst the oldest in Chablis, its members having been wine growers for nearly five centuries. Since the year of 1620, fourteen generations of vigneronns have transmitted their "savoir-faire" down from father to son. The domaine's extensive premier and grand cru holdings span the entire range of the Chablis stylistic repertory. From mineral La Montée de Tonnerre, Vaudésir and Les Clos to fruitier and softer-textured Vaillons, La Fourchaume and Valmur, with Montmains somewhere in between adding citrus and floral notes, site specific nuances of flavour (and Chablis is all about nuances) are accurately translated into bottle.

CLOS SAINT-JEAN, CHATEAUNEUF-DU-PAPE, RHONE VALLEY

If you haven't caught on to the exquisite quality of Clos Saint-Jean's Chateauneuf du Papes, now is the time ... Robert Parker, Jr – The Wine Advocate – Feb/07

The Maurel brothers, Vincent and Pascal, watch over this 43-hectare estate and sell off almost two-thirds of their production, choosing to focus on their old vines for their estate bottlings. The Combe des Fous, according to Vincent, is named for "how foolish the village thought Edmond Tacussel was when he planted this steep section of La Crau at the beginning of the 20th century. It has turned out great for us to have these vines, of course, because La Crau is always very fresh, with excellent body. But also-and this is important-it's fine." These are big, full-flavored wines, no doubt the result of macerations that typically last five weeks, or even more. The grenache, which usually comprises around 60% of the blends, is always raised without wood.

Leopold Gourmel has a clear and logical vision. Aromatic wines should, first, be elaborated from matured grapes, full of fresh and fruity flavors, the original vineyard in the heart of Premier Crus Fins Bois and the ones further selected by Leopold Gourmel excel in this respect. Carefully vinified on lees, the wines are distilled so as to respect their origin in the vineyard. Each year different, the distillation always extracts and concentrates a pure fresh, simple spirit with the highest possible aromatic expression. Aged in oak cask with a fine grain, never blending vintages or vineyards, Leopold Gourmel cognacs slowly evolved through 5 typical stages.

SPAIN	ALVARO PALACIOS, PRIORAT

Alvaro Palacios comes from a prestigious wine family, from La Rioja. He could have secured a prime position in the family winery, the world famous Palacios Remondo. However, being the dynamic visionary that he is, he decided to go out in the wine world and make his own way. He studied enology in Bordeaux and had the enviable job of working under Pomerol superstar Chateau Pétrus winemaker Jean Pierre Moueix. When he returned to Spain, he founded his own winery in 1989 in the Mediterranean wine region of Priorat, south of Barcelona in Tarragona. His aim, it is widely said, was to make a wine somewhere in between Ch. Pétrus and Grange. "

SPAIN	EMILIO MORO, RIBERA DEL DUERO
--------------	--------------------------------------	---

The history of the bodega goes back three generations; Emilio Moro was born in the heart of the Pesquera wine-growing area and grew up treading grapes and racking wine in his native village of Pesquera de Duero, in the province of Valladolid. As early as 14 years old, Emilio helped his father sell 100 large earthenware pitchers of wine to local clients. Years later, after being initiated into the techniques of wine growing by his father, Don Emilio planted vines on the rest of his land and grafted them with 100 year-old local Tempranillo "Tinto Fino", coming from estates which have now disappeared, such as "La Rendeja"

USA	O'SHAUGHNESSY ESTATE, NAPA VALLEY CALIFORNIA

The winemaking philosophy at O'Shaughnessy winery is to produce Cabernet Sauvignon that expresses the unique character of our vineyards from the Howell Mountain and Mount Veeder region. The winemaking style is contemporary, utilizing cutting edge fermentation equipment paired with natural hands on winemaking. The emphasis is on balance; the concentrated nature of the grapes from the estate vineyards needs to be in balance with the flavors and aromas in order to produce the most harmonious wine.

In 1982 Sir Peter Michael established the Peter Michael winery on a square mile of rocky volcanic ridges that form the western face of Mount St. Helena in Sonoma County. From the beginning, the wine growing philosophy was modeled on the French tradition infused with a few modern influences:

One, the vineyard terroir would be the single most important feature. Two, the wines would be elegant rather than overstated. Three, there would be a hundred-year commitment to the development of a great estate.

Jean Phillips, a former real estate agent, bought the 57 acres (23 ha) vineyard in 1986 which was planted to produce a mix of varieties, most of which Phillips sold to various Napa wineries. With all white varieties but for 1-acre (4,000 m²), approximately 80 vines of Cabernet Sauvignon, Phillips sought the opinions of Robert Mondavi Winery employees on the commercial potential of her wine before hiring Richard Peterson as a consultant, and subsequently met Peterson's daughter, Heidi Peterson Barrett, who became her winemaker. The 1992 vintage, through a combination of very low production numbers and highly positive reviews (wine critic Robert Parker awarded the wine 99 points). In 2006 the estate was sold to Santa Barbara businessmen Charles Banks and Stanley Kroenke. In an ongoing replanting strategy, the vineyard manager David Abreu is employed to oversee the process. The vineyards are tended by viticulturist Annie Favia and vineyard foreman Jorge Delgado, while the current winemaker is Andy Erickson. In April 2009, Banks stated he was no longer involved with Screaming Eagle. The vineyard area extends 60 acres (24 ha), planted with varieties Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Cabernet Franc. The annual production ranges from 400 to 600 cases a year.

In early 2006, James Frey teamed with Josh Bergstrom to begin work on the design of Trisaetum's winery. From the outset, the goal was to construct a facility that allows a winemaker to blend old world tradition and new world innovation. After several months and nine drafts, a floor plan and design philosophy were eventually turned into the 13,000 square facility that exists today. The winemaking team of James Frey and Greg McClellan (along with wine consultant Josh Begerstrom) are fortunate to have at their disposal a wide array of tools to craft Trisaetum's distinctive Pinot Noir and Riesling.
